Hand the seven enclosed cards to a friend and have him look them over and give back to you every card on which his age appears. He is not, however, to tell you what his age is. If you will add up the numbers in the upper left hand corner of the cards he selects, their sum will be his age. (See instruction card).

By this trick you can tell the date of the month on which any person was born or the date on which any important event happened to them. You can tell the number of coins they have in their pocket or the number of any articles they may select so long as the amount is between one and one hundred.

There is an exceedingly large number of unusual tricks that can be worked out with this mysterious little set of cards. An ingenious operator can never fail to astound and amuse an audience with same.
